LAFCO rejects VCSD arguments

San Ramon is key to Dublin-Pleasanton City

Three communities which comprise much of the Amador-San Ramon valleys will know a great deal more about their futures this week as the great "One City" debate swings to Oakland, and a Thursday meeting of the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The detailed staff recommendation which calls for an expanded "Pleasanton sphere of influence" to provide one municipality to govern Dublin and Pleasanton, could also go a long way to determining the future municipal course for San Ramon, and the residential expanse.

While the LAFCO report

"can only address itself to lands within Alameda County," it is what that recommendation might also do to the Contra Costa County community of San Ramon which appears to be the underlying concern in this two-county game of dominoes.

Valley Community Services District bases much of its own opposition to the LAFCO "One City" recommendation on the strength of LAFCO's failure to consider the San Ramon Valley — including some 3400 dwelling units now served by the VCSD — in that study. But in a sharply-worded rebuttal to that criticism, released by the LAFCO staff on the eve of that Thursday session, the Alameda County panel makes it clear that the fate of Pleasanton, Dublin and their immediate environs is a paramount concern — and all that state law allows any such commission to undertake.

If anything, this revised LAFCO statement is an even stronger rejection of a Dublin-San Ramon incorporation movement than was the earlier report.

"The multi-county city (Dublin and San Ramon) is raised by VCSD counsel as a possibility," the LAFCO updated statement says. "Again, this is a remote possibility, which VCSD has not taken any action to pursue, and is outside the authority of this commission to initiate."

LAFCO does acknowledge however that "it would be desirable if the county boundary could be adjusted to make the Dublin-San Ramon area whole. Such an action might provide the means for incorporation of a separate community." But again, "the political prospect of realigning county boundaries appears remote."

LAFCO further argues that the county boundaries were established well before there was any Valley Community Services District, and goes on to argue that the Contra Costa County Local Agency Formation Commission has its own studies underway to determine the best future for the vast unincorporated southern portion of that county — including Danville and the entire San Ramon Valley.

"Based upon past and continuing efforts, it would appear San Ramon will be within a municipal government before Dublin is," the Alameda County agency suggests, an admission, perhaps, of just how long it might take to meld local and regional differences into any incorporated area embracing Dublin and Pleasanton, as well as Camp Parks, Castlewood and Happy Valley.

LAFCO's executive officer, Roland Mayne, basis his case for such a city on the key arguments of "greater efficiency and lower municipal costs." He points out the expanded financial base that would be available to the city, including some $200,000 a year in state debentures and in-lieu taxes now earned by Dublin's populace, but paid instead directly to Alameda County because no city exists north of Interstate 580.

In addition, the expanded city would immediately gain $300,000 a year in new sales tax revenue revenue, to a grand total of $750,000. The assessed valuation of that new municipal area would be $172,000, a 56 percent boost over Pleasanton's existing base.

VCSD does not challenge the expanded wealth of such a city, but it does find fault with LAFCO arguments of "greater efficiency" and "improved service" resulting from a merger of the two urban areas. VCSD's page-by-page rejection of the original LAFCO report is responded to by the county staff, which suggests the Dublin-based services district is either poorly informed, or is knit-picking.

Spokesmen for the VCSD and other Dublin community groups can be expected to expand on those questions at Thursday's meeting of the full county board, 3 p.m. at the Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst St. in Hayward. Pleasanton has maintained a low profile in this latest "One City" venture, which was put forth by LAFCO as the second step in its review of the entire county. The first of those reviews looked at the City of Livermore's sphere of influence, and resulting in the Las Positas "New Town" area being removed from any municipal control by Livermore.

Valley ponders wisdom and cost of restoring all that heritage

Can the valley afford to spend more than a half million dollars restoring historical buildings?

Particularly on the eve of our nation's Bicentennial, the urge to save and restore historical buildings has become something of a compulsion.

"If it is old, it must be saved," could be the motto of many of the citizens' groups that have sprung up.

While preservation of our ties with the past is a noble and necessary undertaking, indiscriminate "saving" lessens the importance and impact of those structures which truly have historical meaning.

In addition, the restoration of numerous structures that were built before a certain magical date becomes an incredibly expensive undertaking that could strain the budgets of government and private groups and foundations.

It is not only the cost of restoration itself which must be considered, but the on-going operation and maintenance expenses once the projects are completed.

At least one valley historical leader, Bill Apperson of Pleasanton, believes the basic question of "What are we going to do with this building?" must be answered before restoration can even be considered.

Restoring old buildings, even when they have valid historical significance, misses the mark when the act of restoration becomes an end in itself, rather than a means to an end; namely, making the building a viable part of a community.

At present, there are eight restoration projects underway or planned in the valley. They are:

✓ Old St. Raymond's Church in Dublin, built in 1853.

✓ The Jeremiah Fallon House on Foothill Road, built in 1852.

✓ The Don Francisco Alviso Adobe, also on Foothill Road in Pleasanton, circa 1840's.

✓ John Kottinger's Barn, on Ray Street in Pleasanton, built in 1852.

✓ Century House, on Santa Rita Road in Pleasanton, circa 1860's.

✓ May School on May School Road in Livermore, built in 1869.

✓ Carnegie Building, on Second Street in Livermore, built in 1910.

✓ Christopher Buckley Estate, on Arroyo Road in Livermore, circa 1890's.

These projects are being undertaken by a variety of governmental and private groups for a variety of purposes. If all of them are completed, the costs will be in the neighborhood of a half million dollars.

The then-newly formed

Amador-Livermore Valley Historical Society took on restoration of Old St. Raymond's in Dublin in 1968. To date, more than $14,000 has been spent to restore that aging wooden structure to its former stateliness. The church, which includes one of the oldest graveyards in the valley, houses the "Churchyard Faire," an historical boutique, that closed recently for additional remodeling.

Proceeds from the boutique will be funneled back into restoration of St. Raymond's.

The only preservation project currently on-going in Pleasanton is Century House, which the city, with countless hours of volunteer help, is restoring for use as a meeting place and site for receptions and fashion shows.

More than $100,000 has been spent on the house and surrounding three-acre park, which does not include furnishings or completion of the back half of the park. Of necessity, no attempt is being made to furnish the house with period pieces because of the active nature of its planned use. The city has gone to great lengths, however, to insure the flowers and shrubs in the park area will be as similar as possible to those which bloomed there in the 1860's.

The Livermore Heritage Guild, which is an off-shoot of the valley historical society, is currently working on three projects.

The Carnegie Building, built with grant funds from Andrew Carnegie in 1910, belongs to the City of Livermore and is used by the Livermore Area Recreation and Park District.

Janet Newton of the Heritage Guild, however, is concerned that no one "really feels responsible for it. It needs a new roof and that isn't in anyone's budget."

The May School, one of the earliest rural schools in the valley, is the guild's main project. A total of $900 has been raised to purchase new shingles for the roof and Newton said the work is being done with volunteer labor.

Eventually, Newton said, the May School will house an exhibit on local education and a reconstructed classroom, where present day students can come for a day of classes in a historical setting. The two-acre site may also be used for small picnics and meetings.

Restoration of the Christopher Buckley Estate is one of the more ambitious projects underway in the valley. LARPD has applied for $187,000 in state park bond funds to restore that 24-acre estate to its former elegance. Newton admitted no one is exactly sure what the estate might be used for but she added, "It would be lovely for meetings and receptions."

The estate, which is owned by the city, includes four buildings, a winery and gardens.

The historical society has acquired some money from Alameda County to relocate the Jeremiah Fallon House, which will soon be in the path of bulldozers. What that building will be used for if and when the money is found to restore it, however, has not been determined.

The Alviso Adobe, one of the first buildings in Pleasanton, was a renowned rest spot on the old trail through the valley and Apperson would like to see it restored in conjunction with a surrounding park which could serve as a resting and picnic spot for travelers.

The Kottinger Barn, which served as the valley's first jail, is on property owned by the Robert Koopmans. They are planning to construct a commercial building on part of that land but have agreed to retain the Kottinger Barn on the property.

Apperson believes the barn could serve as a center for independent artists in the valley who could reserve spots to display their work. The art that would be encouraged would be natural arts, such as weaving, pottery and painting, that might have been engaged in during the heydays of the barn.

There is obviously no lack of effort in the valley to take on restoration projects but it is also apparent there is little coordination among the various groups.

There is only so much money available for these projects and the historical groups will have to become selective. Not everything can — or should be — saved.

Those buildings which have a valid historical focus and which have an equally valid future use should be restored for the generations to come.

Blackhawk vote near

The Contra Costa County Planning Commission will decide tonight on the final development plan for the controversial Blackhawk Ranch subdivision.

The 7:30 p.m. meeting in the Board Chambers of the County Administration Building in Martinez will also have a public hearing on the final plan for Discovery Bay.

The Blackhawk Ranch subdivision has been involved in problems and challenges for over two years. Further review of the proposal must still come before the County Board of Supervisors.

If approved, the development is subject to possible court challenges which could further postpone the long-delayed project.

County acts today

Costly malpractice answer

Alameda County is losing its malpractice and general liability insurance on July 1, but it appears that the county will be able to pick up a replacement at a much higher rate.

That's the news the Alameda County Board of Supervisors will receive at their meeting this morning in the County Administration Building in Oakland, but at least the county will be insured.

Many doctors have been unable to get malpractice insurance and a widespread doctor's strike has paralyzed the health industry throughout Northern California. The rates with Farmer's Insurance — the new company — will be much higher than before.

The meeting will also see the reopening of the public hearing on policy and operations at the county prison at Santa Rita. The hearing on May 20 ran overtime and many potential speakers were cut off due to lack of time.

The supervisors are expected to approve a recommendation that Zone 7 of the Alameda County Flood and Water Conservation District be the supervisors' representative on the Congress of Valley Agencies as well as agreeing to spend $60,000 to relocate gas line facilities at Stanley Boulevard and Isabel Avenue.

Now that the site for the East County Government Center has been approved, the first of undoubtedly many requests for space has been made. The Chief Probation Officer is asking for more space for his office in the building that is at least five years away from reality.

The supervisors will also work on a potentially controversial reallocation of the gas tax funds within the county.

Presently, the funds are divided according to number of registered drivers and road mileage in each city. The exact formula was devised by the Alameda County Mayors' Conference and that body would like the formula to remain the same.

Memorial Day in Pleasanton

In a subdued, but festive, salute to the nation's heroes in wars past, the Veterans of Foreign Wars showed the flag, while the Amador High School Golden Don Band provided music and pretty girls for this Monday morning parade down Main Street. It all lasted just a few, brief minutes.

Voters decide tax measures

Voters throughout the Valley Community Services District will go to the polls today to decide the fate of a 39 cent tax increase for parks and recreation, while Contra Costa County VCSD residents will also rule on a 39 cent school tax measure.

The San Ramon Valley Unified School District is seeking approval for a "lease-purchase" arrangement to build an intermediate school on Pine Valley Road, add another phase to California High School and renovate San Ramon High School in Danville.

Alameda County residents of VCSD approved a larger tax rate increase for the Murray Elementary School District in March and all district inhabitants will be absorbing a $2 per month sewer service increase starting in July.

The VCSD measure will allow the district to develop 47 acres of parks on three separate sites as well as offset the deficit on the aquatics program.

Two of the park sites — the Dublin Sports Ground and Athan Downs — would be primarily devoted to soccer and baseball fields for organized recreation while the third — Boone Acres — would consist of open space, picnic tables and barbecue pits.

The supervisors will also work on a potentially controversial reallocation of the gas tax funds within the county.

Presently, the funds are divided according to number of registered drivers and road mileage in each city. The exact formula was devised by the Alameda County Mayors' Conference and that body would like the formula to remain the same.

The district is asking for a tax hike of 43 cents, from $2.07 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.50 for 1975-76. Superintendent-Principal George Bury has stated that defeat of the measure could result in discontinuation of library,

The aquatics program at the San Ramon Olympic Pool and the Valley Community Swim Center will run nearly $100,000 in the red next year unless the measure is passed.

The school district has failed twice in the past 15 months to pass bond issues to complete Cal High, build the new intermediate school and renovate San Ramon but each time over 60 per cent of the voters approved the measure. Unfortunately for the district, bond issues require two-thirds majorities to pass.

However, under an arrangement just made legal this year, the district can pass a tax rate increase — which takes only a majority — and then set up a non-profit corporation to sell the bonds. The district would buy back the bonds with the money from the tax rise and eventually purchase the buildings.

Livermore and San Diego have seen successful passage of similar measures already this year.

VCSD tried to pass a tax rate increase for parks and recreation in the early 60's but it was turned down. If the measure is successful today, it will push Dublin's tax rate within a dime of the City of Pleasanton's.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Sunol asked to hike school tax today

Voters in the Sunol Glen School District will be asked to approve a tax increase for only the second time in the district's history today.

The district is asking for a tax hike of 43 cents, from $2.07 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.50 for 1975-76. Superintendent-Principal George Bury has stated that defeat of the measure could result in discontinuation of library, nurse and cafeteria services, as well as doubling up of classes in kindergarten, first and second grades.

The Sunol Glen Advisory Committee plotted what it would cost homeowners with various appraised values if the measure was passed. For example, the yearly tax in 1975-76 for a person with a home valued at $30,000 would be $43.30.

Ridge top residential zone before county

The Alameda County Planning Commission will consider taking the first step to rezoning 154 acres on the Pleasanton Ridge at their 1:30 p.m. meeting in Hayward today.

The land is presently zoned residential, but the county General Plan — which was recently revised — has the land designated for open space. The first step is the calling of a public hearing on the proposed rezoning and that is what the planners will consider today.

It is possible that the land will not be taken all the way to agricultural, but under the general plan it is expected that a density of one home to 50 acres will be the likely minimum.

The commissioners will also hear the request of Leona Phillips to rezone 163 acres of land in the Palomares Canyon from agricultural to residential. Although the proposal asks for 25 acre minimum building sites, approval by the planners could set a precedent for similar requests throughout the county.

Agricultural zoning allows only one building site on each 100 acres of land. According to the Alameda County Planning Department, vast areas in the county are in a similar situation — that is, zoned agricultural and lacking basic services. It has been a county policy to not rezone land from agricultural to residential unless services are available.

The planners will also consider under what category to zone a historical landmark.

Starla Kryder, Violet Pready and Sharron Kennedy discuss Girls State.

Dublin Hi girl named state delegate

Starla Kryder, a 17-year-old Dublin High School Junior, has been named delegate to the Girls State by the American Legion Auxiliary, Patriots Unit 580. Starla has a 3.4 grade average and is active in the Foreign Exchange Club at Dublin High. She is also a member of the Dublin Juniors. Her hobbies are reading, bike riding, camping, fishing, hiking, sewing and stitching.

The delegate has lived in Dublin for five years with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kryder, a sister, Dawn and brother, Robert. Her father is vice president in charge of national sales for Producers Marketing Consultants. Her mother teaches crafts and stitching at Crafty Fox and Pleasanton Recreation Center.

The ninth district of the American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor a Girls State Tea in Richmond in May. All past girl staters and 1975 Girl Staters and their families are invited to attend the tea.

Girls State is a practical application of Americanism and good citizenship. The entire program is a non-political attempt to teach and inculcate in the youth of America a love of God and Country.

The purpose of Girls State is to provide citizenship training for girls of high school age in every constituent department of the American Legion Auxiliary; to afford them an opportunity to live together as self-governing citizens; to inform them about the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship in order that they may understand and participate in the function of their government; and to help them grasp the meaning of some of the responsibilities which they must assume when they become adults.

The girls are selected for leadership, character, courage, honesty, scholarship, cooperativeness and physical fitness.

Girls State will be held at Sacramento State University, Sacramento, California June 30 to July 7.

The candidate is chosen with the help of the faculty.

Junior Preview Night

Sharon Puffer and Maggie Smaltz of the Livermore Junior Women's Club share a few moments of friendship and refreshments while planning for the club's "Junior Preview Night" scheduled for Wednesday, May 29, at 8 p.m. at the Community Room of the State Savings and Loan Building, 999 East Stanley Blvd. The event is held to inform young women in the community about Juniors. Women between the ages of 18 and 35 interested in working in community activities are welcome to join the club. For further information, contact Maggie Smaltz, membership chairwoman at 447-9392.

Square dancing offers fun, friends, fitness

Ever do a square dance at a Western Dude ranch...or a barn dance? Maybe 10 or 20 years ago in a physical education class you twirled to the rhythm of the "Virginia Reel" or possibly the music of "Choose your partner, skip to my Lou." Square dancing goes back more years than anyone really knows, but probably reached the peak of its popularity during the years of Colonial America when it was the chief source of entertainment and social activity for residents of isolated communities.

There is a bill now pending before Congress that would, if passed, proclaim the square dance the official folk dance of America.

Today the strains of the Virginia Reel are nearly obsolete, or at least they're almost never heard at modern hoe-downs and round ups. What is heard are phrases such as "wheel and deal", "Flutter wheel", "slide through", "circulate" and "recycle."

Each term has a special meaning which must be understood before the dancer can participate without ending up in utter confusion.

The Eagle Squares is a Livermore square dance club that "scoots and twirls" every Wednesday at 8 p.m. in workshops conducted at Joe Michell school "for the purpose of training a good dancer to become even better."

Organized in 1960 in the Livermore Eagles Hall, the group borrowed their name from the Eagles although no other connection exists. The club is celebrating their 15th anniversary at the June 14, hoedown.

As a member of the Northern California Square Dancers Association, the "Squares" attend the annual Golden State Round-up which draws 7,000 to 8,000 dancers for the weekend. The dance culminated their year in office.

The only requirement for becoming an Eagle Square is that the participants be of high school age. It is necessary, however, to begin by enrolling in a training class that starts each September and finishes in April. Upon graduation, students join the advanced dancers and continue to improve their techniques.

One healthy fringe benefit to square dancing is the contribution it makes toward keeping physically fit.

Nonie Moglia of Castro Valley, a caller for 19 years, has been with the Livermore club since it was organized. He commutes to Livermore every Wednesday to work with the advanced group and each Thursday to train the new dancers. A meat cutter by trade, Moglia serves as "teacher" as well as caller and aids dancers at all stages in their effort to master the intricate steps of square dancing. A friendly, soft-spoken man, Moglia considers square dancing to be one of the very best ways to make friends. He says, "nowhere can you find more friendly and considerate people."

Square dancers have an emblem displayed prominently on the windshields of their automobiles which proclaims their affiliation with this organization. They claim there is a mutual bond of friendship that spreads across the entire nation.

Every year the Eagles do exhibition dancing during the Rodeo festivities. This year they will dance at 9:30 a.m. before the parade.

Local members participated in the Silver State Square Dance Festival in Reno and again at the National Convention in Kansas City in June. Eagle members are already signing up for the 1976 convention that will be held in Anaheim.

They're a swinging group, those Eagles! Anyone interested in joining in the fun with them may obtain further details by calling Edith Strong at 443-5577.

Work days set

Livermore Heritage Guild will hold "work days" on Saturday and Sunday May 31 and Sunday June 1 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at May School.

Participants are advised to wear their old work clothes, bring tools, hammers, ladders, pick-up trucks, etc. and their own refreshments.

For further information or to volunteer your time, call Dorothy and David Nielsen, 447-6187, chairpersons.

by Bernice Bede Ovi

For Tuesday, May 27, 1975
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Keep your temper if you want others to co-operate with aims important to you. You'll lose their support if you're too aggressive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Set a schedule today. Stick with it, or your efforts will be scattered too thin and nothing worthwhile will be achieved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Be careful today. You could be drawn into a friend's very complicated affairs and find yourself put on the spot.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Don't make any major decisions impulsively today, especially if what you decide has a direct effect upon another who's not present.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Be extra cautious the next few days with work you're responsible for. Don't make moves without first consulting superiors.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You'll have to curb your extravagant tendencies today and tomorrow if you want to keep your budget intact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
It would be unwise at this time to put off handling domestic matters of importance that need attention now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Don't try to overpower others with your ideas today. If they're not buying, pressuring them won't do the trick.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Don't lend something you prize to a friend who, you know from experience, is very careless with his own things.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
You're likely to change course too often today for your own good in order to try to satisfy the demands of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
You will be the source of your own undoing today if you behave in an impulsive manner. Plan your steps carefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Don't involve yourself in activities today and tomorrow that are out of reach financially. Live within your means.

Your Birthday

May 27, 1975

You'll become involved in a new enterprise this year. It could be quite profitable if the right parties are involved. Be very selective in choosing business associates.

Now for the play. South held off twice with his ace of hearts.

He discarded a diamond from dummy and East dropped his four of diamonds. Then came four rounds of clubs. East got rid of another diamond on the fourth club. He could do this with no worries because West had thrown the 10 of diamonds on the third one. East's two diamond discards were important since he could not have afforded to throw a

Ballistic dispute may be settled today

Ballistic United of Pleasanton is still awaiting word on a protest that could restore the under-14 team to the Western Regional Jr. Challenge Cup championships.

The matter should be decided by today according to Bob Stewart, coach of the Ballistic team.

His club was eliminated in a Western Regional semi-final a week ago in Seattle. But according to Stewart, the winning club, the CWA Oilers of Seattle, was ineligible.

Stewart protested the contest before it ever started, and now awaits the ruling of the United States Youth Soccer Association.

A decision was expected over the weekend, but the USYSA held off because the Oilers were involved in another tournament.

According to Stewart, the Oilers are a conglomeration of all-stars from the entire Seattle area. According to rules governing the Western Regionals, select, or all-star teams are forbidden. The entrants must be club teams that have spent an entire season together.

"It appeared that the Oilers were definitely a select team, made up of three or four teams," Stewart said. "In fact some of the parents in Seattle called it an all-star game. One fellow told me that players were cut in February and replaced with new people because Washington was grooming teams for this competition."

The Oilers defeated Ballistic on the eighth penalty kick of an overtime kickoff last week in Bellevue.

United led in regulation play, 1-0, on a Dennis Miller goal, but CWA tied the game with 1:45 to play. Mark Fish put Ballistic back on top in the overtime period, but the Oilers tied it again, this time with a minute left.

Then the Oilers won the penalty kickoff.

The victory put CWA in the Western Regional finals. If the protest is upheld, however, Ballistic would replace the Oilers in the championship game that would be played this Saturday in the Bay Area. The opponent would be a team from Las Vegas, Arizona, or Southern California.

Everything hinges on the protest ruling, however, which should be forthcoming.

"Our entire district is looking at this thing with interest," Stewart said. "One of the functions of the United States Association is to insure a reasonable quality of competition. And if they're serious about that, there's no doubt about the protest."

The two clubs exchanged player rosters prior to their semi-final contest, Stewart said. The CWA roll differed from what it had been when the team appeared in Pleasanton last November, Stewart said.

According to Stewart, the CWA coach claimed he had made "hardship" changes in his roster. Stewart said, however, that rules prevented him from even replacing a player who had broken his leg in practice for the Western Regionals.

Cartwright signed, sealed, delivered

Recruiting USF's next great hope

By Murray Olderman

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — (NEA) — Not until young Billy Cartwright affixed his 17-year-old scrawl to the document the other day did Bob Gaillard know for sure the impossible dream was reality.

Signed, sealed and delivered for the University of San Francisco basketball team next semester is Billy Cartwright, a seven-foot scholar from the bucolic community of Elk Grove, Calif., 14 miles south of Sacramento.

Gaillard, behind one of those mod mustaches that makes everybody look like Zapata, is the 34-year-old head basketball coach at USF, with the prize catch among recruited students in the nation.

The union is the fruition of three years of endless quest, the kind that is deplored by those who see hypocrisy lurking in every gymnasium corner of the country, but it is this kind of recruiting that is the essence of a successful sports program in intercollegiate competition.

Bob Gaillard isn't apologizing for what he has bagged. He has been after Cartwright since he heard, in the early winter of 1972, "there's a big kid at Elk Grove."

"We feel we have to get an early start," says Gaillard, "because we don't have the recruiting power of big schools. Actually, we went over to see a high school kid from Stockton playing at Elk Grove. And there was Cartwright — he was 6-10 and skinny. But we could see he had a super future because he tried so hard."

"So we say to ourselves, 'How can we recruit him?' We can't miss on a blue-chipper. Each year we try to select a high school junior and try to get close with the family. I have to walk in like I'm an old friend."

But Cartwright was worth a year's head start and, in the vernacular of Gaillard, he had to find out "who was handling the ball game" — i.e., who was warding off scouts and would be the ultimate influence. It was the Elk Grove coach, Dan Risley, and this gave Gaillard an immediate edge because he used to coach at a Jesuit high school in nearby Sacramento and was a close personal friend of Risley.

Next came the strategy — to convince the boy himself that USF was the only college for his basketball future. The school sits nicely on a promontory in the middle of the picturesque city. Since it stopped spewing out great football players like Ollie Matson and Gino Marchetti after giving up football in the 1950s, basketball has been the big game on campus. It is the school where Bill Russell went and led the way to national championships.

Gaillard, looking ahead, booked Elk Grove to play high school preliminary games to USF varsity contests in its home War Memorial Gym, both in 1973 and '74. Billy could start feeling at home early.

Gaillard did his away-from-home work, too. Guess who was the main speaker at Elk Grove High School banquets the last two years — you got it: Gaillard.

When Gaillard, one head coach who does most of his recruiting personally, went to Elk Grove to see Cartwright's first game of the season, he chose his seat well — right next to Billy's parents. (Billy's dad is a construction worker. There are six daughters and Billy.)

When Cartwright came down to the Bay area to watch a pro game between the Golden State Warriors and the Seattle Super Sonics, Gaillard introduced him to Bill Russell, the Sonics' coach.

"Go to USF," advised Russell. "Have some fun. Enjoy yourself."

During his just-concluded final high school season, the pressure was heavy on Billy. Gaillard went to see him play a game against Sacramento High.

"Come to our school," said Gaillard, "and you don't have to worry about being triple-teamed because I'll surround you with good players. But if you're going to come, say so early so I can go out and get those players."

Kalepp, Wise break Brokers

Keith Kalepp pitched a four hitter, and John Wise drove in three runs as Romley's Market edged Allied Brokers, 4-3 in Pleasanton National senior league baseball Saturday.

Kalepp struck out nine and walked only one.

Rod Bingham drove in a run for the winners with a double.

Curt Millar and Greg Costello split all of the Braves' hits.

Pleasanton Garbage defeated Jerry's Exxon, 9-3, powered by Howard Bauer's two-run homer. Robin Dijos had three hits and played fine defense. Ralph Lopez singled twice and drove in a run. Mike Mallon picked up the win.

Richard Jones fired a two-hitter as Aero Appliance defeated Peterson's 76, 7-0. Jerry Lipich drove in three runs with a triple.

Peterson's atoned for that loss with a 23-7 win over the wreds. The 76 team scored 20 times in the fourth inning. Jim Ward had four RBI's.

Franklin Savings posted three runs in the sixth inning for a 5-3 major league victory over Televue. Eric Nostrand and Kevin Stout drove in two runs each. Tom Northam picked up the win. The Phils won their division for the first half of the season.

Valley Realty scored in the last of the sixth inning to top McDonald Paints, 8-7. John DeWitt, Trip Gotelli and Mike Madden drove in two runs apiece.

The Triple A VIP Dodgers beat the Giants, 16-12, powered by Walter Hagmaier. He tripled and homered and had seven RBI's. Dave Millar drove in three runs.

The Padres' Nathan Huebelle drove in two runs with a double to spark his team to a 5-4 win over the Braves. Marco Castro earned the win.

Swenson's scored a run in the last of the eighth inning to overtake Gene's Interiors, 10-9. Kevin Hoggatt's three-run triple in the fourth inning was a key blow for the Cubs. The Reds' Ben Inderbitzen doubled twice. Paul Stoker played fine defense.

Gene's Interiors beat Pleasanton VIP's, 16-11. John Mead drove in two runs, and Kevin Elnorine, one Mat Zitta of the Dodgers had three RBI's.

The Double A Cubs squashed the Phils, 8-4, aided by the defense of Tim McCutchen and Terry Smith. Steve Jacobson earned the pitching decision. Paul Hales of the Cubs had three hits.

Keith Van Buren drove in seven runs, and Todd Tafoutie, five, as the Pirates beat the Giants, 25-1. Marty McGarry of the Giants turned an unassisted double play.

John Duesterhaus' fine pitching (nine strikeouts) led the Reds past the Dodgers, 21-5. Scott Backer drove in three runs. Jeff Wilson homered for the losers.

Jim Ford pitched scoreless baseball for nine innings, as his Grutman's Pirates tied Pleasanton Jaycees, 0-0. Dave Knoecny added an inning of shutout relief. Doug Jones, Pat Geck and David Heeger pitched for the Phils.

The Phils bounced the Cubs, 18-5, on five home runs. Eric Dahman, Ted Hirst, Donald Naguel and Ruben Lopez all hit homers. The Cubs' Robert Sato tripled three times.

Marty Brian's home run helped the Giants hand the Pirates their first loss, 7-6. Brian Thaw scored the tying run, Mike Reichlin the winner in the last of the sixth inning.

The Pirates topped Amador Linen, 7-3, on the pitching of Eric Whalen and Chris Elbert. Gary Kuntz and Jeff Castillo drove in runs.

The Reds torpedooed the Dodgers, 9-8, on five fifth-inning runs. Ken Bracken's line drive single scored Eric Van Etten with the deciding run.

Shamrocks' flourishing finale

SEATTLE — The State Cup champion Dublin Shamrocks scored just 30 seconds into the match and had to struggle to keep things respectable yesterday in a 5-0 rout of the Oregon All-Stars at the Pacific Coast International Youth Soccer Tournament.

The victory was good for a third place finish for the under-12 Shamrocks of coach Dave McDonald.

Dublin dropped its opening contest Saturday to D.J. Federal Way of Seattle, 2-0.

Federal Way played late yesterday for the Tournament title.

Dublin's victory climaxed a 33-4 season that included the State Cup Crown and a victory in the Redwood City Tournament of Champions.

McDonald shuffled his lineup throughout yesterday's contest to keep the score reasonable. Five different players rammed home goals for Dublin. Eddie Lopez opened the barrage with a score 30 seconds into the match.

John Kulak, Todd Fraser, Todd Vitale and Rusty Swarts also scored.

David Snyder played the first half in goal, but was called on for just one save. Jim Santos relieved Snyder in the second half and made two saves.

It was a well constructed team victory, according to McDonald, and a fitting conclusion to the season.

The Shamrocks dropped their Saturday decision to Federal Way in overtime. They played a scoreless game in regulation, but succumbed in the Seattle heat.

"These were two evenly matched teams," McDonald said. "It was a matter of who scored first. It was a hot day and by the time it went into overtime, our players were exhausted."

"We played well enough to win, but we couldn't get the ball in the net. In the last five minutes of regulation we hammered the goal — but we couldn't get one. We're not making excuses though," McDonald said. "They were a good team."

The Shamrocks showed no adverse affects yesterday from the tough opening game defeat.

"They forgot the game 10 minutes after it was over," McDonald said. "They weren't upset at all. In fact they were singing in the bus on the way home. They handle it better than adults do."

Displaying total dislike for ties, Copy Quick shattered the first half league championship deadlock in the Pleasanton American majors, with a 23-4 victory over Toyo Tires.

Gregg Doherty's three-run homer and five runs-batted-in sparked the 20-hit Angel attack Trace Wallis and Pat Moyer both drove in two runs.

Troy Jones was the winning pitcher with fine relief help from Doherty Greg Debine, Randy McNatt and Mike Moyer doubled for the Red Sox.

In triple A, General Grinding defeated Compton Sporting Goods, 26-17. Eric Patterson homered for the Tigers, and Mike Merrill had five base hits. Scott McNowlin tripled and homered for the Indians.

Pleasanton awaits Japanese visitors

Thirty Japanese students under the auspices of Interstudy, a travel organization dealing with educational programs, will arrive in Pleasanton on August 2 for a four week stay.

Volunteer homes are being recruited for these students. It is part of their education to live in an American home, eat American food and see and experience American culture. The host family provides room and board for their student member of their household. Any other activities which the family may wish to provide or participate in are of their own choosing.

The students have classes three mornings a week at which time they receive further instruction in speaking English and learning about our country's history and geography. One day is an all-day tour conducted by Interstudy. They have three-day weekends, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, at which time optional tours are provided by Interstudy. The student may participate in all of these functions, or he may choose to be with his host family.

It is a tremendous experience, not only for the foreign student, but the host family who participates in such an exchange of culture. Families with children are especially encouraged to participate because of the great relationships formed between the foreign student exchange. These students range in age from 16 to 25 and come from various parts of Japan and various walks of life.

Youth ranch site slated for review

The Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) has changed its scheduled second congress from Saturday, June 7, to 10 a.m., Friday, June 6, director Bette Meyer announced earlier this week.

The congress will convene at the Arroyo Del Valle Sanatorium in an effort to acquaint members with potential uses and subsequent development of the site COVA assisted the Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch in its efforts to secure the property from Alameda County, and will meet at the site to familiarize COVA agencies with the problems of restoration.

"The Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch is seeking compatible groups, agencies, and organizations which could possibly use buildings and/or open space in the upper area at Del Valle," Meyer said.

The fire's thatta' way

Captain Doug Cracraft of the Pleasanton Fire Department is really pointing to the upcoming Firemen's Muster May 31 and June 1 as lovely Liz Flores, the department secretary, takes tentative aim with the fire hose. Helping plan for annual event are Larry Howard, standing, and Jim Glockner. Muster events will take place at Fairgrounds this year, leading off with a pancake breakfast each day. One of highlights will be June 1 parade, starting at 10:30 a.m., which will travel down Main Street and Rose Avenue in Pleasanton.

Teachers submit new offer

Teachers in the Murray Elementary School District have presented the board with a counterproposal that accepts the 4 per cent district wage increase offer.

However, the counterproposal also includes five other items that will undoubtedly meet with stiff resistance from district officials.

The most expensive of the requests is a $150,000 expenditure to upgrade the district program. The majority of that money would go to allot $9 per student for purchase of instructional materials, which would nearly double the present state allotment of $11 per student.

The teachers would also like to see that money go for the hiring of an additional psychologist, two additional nurses and the extension of the hours of library clerks.

If any of the $150,000 was left over, that money would be distributed to the schools and spent in a manner decided by the staff, parents and administration.

The counterproposal also calls for the district to absorb any inflationary increases in the fringe benefits package, which would run to about $25,000 a year, according to district spokesmen.

Another part of the package calls for any funds that come into the district by action of the state or federal government to go to teacher salaries until the total raise for teachers would amount to 8 per cent.

Also, the teachers reverted to their original work schedule of 175 teaching days and one working day in light of the district's refusal to budge from its 177 teaching day, five working day position.

The district has threatened to adopt its version of the calendar unilaterally at the next board meeting unless the teachers agree.

The final section of the counterproposal calls for a 5 per cent raise every third year for those teachers who reached the top of the step and column pay scale. Teachers receive raises for additional schooling and experience that amount to an average of 4.5 per cent per year. Once the top of the schedules have been met, however, no further raises are promised.

Bill Crozier, Associate Superintendent of the district, said he felt better "about the amount of compensation" but added that he "didn't know where the money would come from" for the other teacher proposals.

The financially-strapped district passed a revenue limit increase in March that teachers say should be spent on programs and personnel. MESD, however, already granted the teachers a 5.2 per cent raise effective July 1 that was agreed to on a contingency basis last year.

Then, teachers settled only 48 hours before school was to begin for a 3 per cent raise—that would jump to 8.2 per cent if extra funds became available. With the success of the tax rate election, teachers were given the extra money.

District officials claim that MESD is once more hurting and that its reserve is down to $60,000 to $70,000 with the extension of the 4 per cent salary increase offer. It has been operating with approximately a $100,000 reserve these past few years.

Crozier said the district had proposed that outside neutral parties examine the budget to see if any extra funds are available. The next negotiating session is set for May 28, well before the teacher deadline of June 2. If a settlement is not reached by then, the teachers have called a mass meeting on June 3. At a similar meeting in 1974, the teachers voted to strike in the fall.

The final board meeting of the school year is June 2.

How Tanager Court solved its problem

At a time when some taxpayers are screaming for more municipal parks, while others are screaming at the developers, this report from Tanager Court in Pleasanton Valley is a refreshing change of pace.

Take one "weed infested vacant lot," cover with ten eager families, add a healthy financial boost from Morrison Homes, and the result is something 30 children in that neighborhood will enjoy for a very long time.

"Everyone in the neighborhood contributed," the homeowners on Tanager Court report with pride. "The outcome was something the neighborhood can be proud of." And the community too.

The people along Tanager Court (just south of Mohr Avenue) suggest their "self-help project" might just be worth spreading throughout the town.

Youths with matches blamed for grass fire

LIVERMORE — Local fire departments responded to two fires in the east end of the Valley Friday: a garage blaze at 612 McLeod St. and an arson grass fire at Del Valle Reservoir.

Two nine-year-olds from Livermore admitted setting the Del Valle fire while playing with matches. No one was injured in the two-acre, 12:50 p.m. blaze near the boat ramp.

An East Bay Regional Parks District fire company was joined by one unit from the state Division of Forestry and two trucks from the Alameda County Fire Department.

The fire burned "last year's growth of weeds," a spokesman said, adding they were "lucky it's still a little green up there, or we'd still be chasing that thing."

Meanwhile, some $4,500 in damages were incurred when the garage behind 612 McLeod St. was gutted shortly before 9 a.m. Three engines with 10 firemen responded to the injury-free accident.

Eldon Clutinger, occupant of the home owned by Brokers' Associates, told firemen the garage contained motorcycle parts and machinery and some tools.

The cause of the blaze is still under investigation, according to officials.

Fire officials estimate structural damage at $3,000 and contents at $1,500. The roof was burnt off and the interior gutted, they added.

Film Festival winners

John Davide, 18, (shown above), a senior at Dublin High School, captured the grand prize in the Alameda County Library's recent film teenage film festival. Davide's 12-minute color animated color film, "Frankenstein", will be shown at the Pleasanton Library at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, along with the other winners. He plans to study film making at Chabot next year and hopes to find a career in that field. Davide is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davide of 7288 Thames Ct. (Another local winner was Bob Easley, 18, also a Dublin High senior, who won second prize in the live action category with his film, "The Naked Man.")

Lions Club elects new governor

Otto E. Mielenz, Chabot College music instructor, has been elected district governor of Lions Club District 4-C3, which includes 60 clubs with 2,400 members in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties.

Mielenz, member of the San Lorenzo Lions Club, was elected at the district convention in Santa Rosa. He joined the San Lorenzo Lions Club in 1967 and has served as its tail twister, second vice president, first vice president, and president in 1972-73. He was a Zone Chairman in 1973-74 and a Deputy District Governor in 1974-75.

The new district governor, currently a director of the San Lorenzo Lions Club, is second vice president of the ions Blind Center in Oakland, member of the Operations and Executive Committee of the Oakland Blind, Advisor to the Lions Eye Foundation of California and Nevada, Director of the Deaf Counseling and Referral Agency, and district blood bank co-chairman.

He and his wife, Marilyn, and their three sons reside at 679 Cuenca Way, Fremont.

Golf course wins sprinklers appropriation

LIVERMORE — In response to a plea by greens committee chairman Jerry Atwell, the city council has appropriated $1,850 for the immediate purchase of 150 sprinklers for the Las Positas Golf Course.

According to Atwell, who made an appearance at the city council meeting earlier this week, the sprinklers are $37 each and are included in the 1975-76 fiscal budget. The greens committee chairman explained the sprinklers were needed as soon as possible to avoid permanent damage to the turf and sod at the golf course next to the municipal airport.

The sprinklers will take 10 days to install, he said.
